Municipal Judge Sadie Smith-McDaniel presented an updated Penalty Assessment Schedule for the Municipal Court and asked for Council approval. Judge Smith-McDaniel said the penalty assessment schedule had not been updated since 2009. She also said she reviewed assessments from the cities of Farmington, Aztec, and other communities in New Mexico to ensure the City of Bloomfield's updated penalty assessment is in line with other similar communities. Judge Smith-McDaniel also said she checked New Mexico statutes to ensure the city's schedule meets state requirements. The schedule includes a base fine and court costs, with the total fine due upon a plea of guilty or a verdict of guilty at a trial. The Judge said $29 of penalties received goes to the state to cover supplies, and the rest of the money collected goes into the city's general fund. Those who cannot pay the total penalty will be offered several options for payment, including a 30-day payment plan, community service in lieu of payment or a donation to a charity. Court costs will have to be paid, however, no matter how the payment plan is agreed upon. Councilor Hare moved to approve the penalty assessment schedule and Councilor Finch seconded. Approval was unanimous.

City Manager George Duncan introduced Ronald Poor, the general manager of WCA, which is contracted by the city to collect trash. Mr. Poor requested council approval of a 3.1 percent increase on trash pickup, stating that an increase is automatic every two years, according to the contract. Mr. Poor addressed several concerns from the council, including WCA's handling of citizen complaints and the importance of maintaining a regular trash pick-up schedule (and when that schedule is changed, to inform the city). City Manager Duncan said Mr. Poor has been very responsive when the city calls for assistance. Councilor Hare moved to approve the price increase with WCA and Councilor Finch seconded. Approval was unanimous.
